

Oh, Sing, Ye People!

Text and Music by Melanie Hoffman

from the Hoffman House CD, "A Christmas Celebration!"

Additional Text and Arrangement by Roger Hoffman

Joyously ♩ = 168

SA
Oh, sing, ye peop - le, sing — this morn. Re - joice for the Then sing ye peo - ple, sing — this morn, Pro - claim to the Oh, kneel in rev' rent praise to the Lord. Re joice in the Then sing and say what vic t'ry is won. Re joice for the day — the Sav - ior was born. All heav'n and earth, with loud ac - claim, Re - world — the Sav - ior was born. The flame that burns with heav'en's light shall pow'r of His ho ly word. Oh, see and feel his heal ing light that day when the Sav ior will come. All heav'n shall sing that bless ed hour when joice and re - vere_ his bless_ ed name. The Ho - ly Child_ of Beth - le - rid — the world of the dark - ness of night. No win - ter wind_ with breath so shines in the midst of the dark est of nights. And then, with cour age and love for Christ shall de scend in His glo ry and pow'r. And then all earth will in rap ture hem was born to save_ the souls of men. No more to feel the chill can frost the fire_ of God's good will. No sin nor death, no Him, pro claim these sav_ ing words to men, "No sin nor death, no sing, for He who reigns, is Christ, the King. No sin, nor death, no bur - den of sin, we hon - or this bless_ ed gift_ from heav'n.

TB

toil_ nor pain can bur - den the heart_ where Je - sus doth reign.
toil_ nor pain can bur den the heart_ where Je - sus doth reign.
toil_ nor pain shall bur_ den the world_ where Je - sus doth reign.